FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

BILLINGS – Rocky Mountain College junior, Josh Tishman, of Bedford, N.Y., has qualified for the Intercollegiate Horse Show Association (IHSA) Western Regional show after competing in three western shows this past weekend.

“It was great qualifying for the regional show,” said Tishman. “I had great weekend and I’m excited to show again in February next year.”

The RMC IHSA Equestrian Team competed in Logan, Utah, hosted by Utah State University (USU) in three western shows, December 2-3, 2012.

“It was a great weekend for the RMC team,” said Christi Brown, RMC equine studies instructor and IHSA team coach. “Having an open rider qualify for the regional show is something to be celebrated. It’s always great to see our rider’s hard work pay off.”

The RMC IHSA Equestrian team showed against Montana State University, University of Montana, University of Montana Western and USU.

The IHSA Western Regional show will be February 17, 2013, hosted by RMC at the Intermountain Equestrian Center in Billings, Mont.

The RMC team results are as follows:

In the Intermediate II Walk Trot Canter class, Hannah Brown, of Mount Vernon, Wash., placed second, third and fifth over the weekend. Tricia Hofeldt, of Winner, S.D., placed sixth on Sunday. Baylee Ostrom, of Sedro-Wooley, Wash., placed third and sixth.

Kristina Felix, of San Jaun Capistrano, Calif., placed first, second and fourth in the Novice horsemanship class over the weekend.

In the Advanced Horsemanship class, Liz Parkman, of Granger, Ind., placed second, fifth and sixth. Kristin Dillehay, of Rosewood, Ohio, placed fourth and sixth.
In Open Horsemanship, Sunni Hecht, of Lewiston, Mont., placed first, third and fourth over the weekend. Molly Adair, of Billings, Mont., placed first, third and sixth.

In the Open Reining class Hayden Hadley, of Baker, Mont., placed second and fifth on Saturday and second place in the Sunday show. Tishman placed first in all three shows and Hecht placed third and fourth on Saturday, and fourth on Sunday.
