RMC announces Katherine Browning as winner of the Student Employee of the Year program

The Student Employee of the Year (SEOTY) Recognition Program begins at the institutional level and moves on to regional, and, in some cases, national recognition. Each year, the region looks to supervisors at colleges to nominate student employees who they feel are worthy of recognition based on their work performance as it relates to reliability, quality of work, initiative, professionalism, and the uniqueness of the student’s contribution to the employer. Supervisor Tim Lohrenz nominated Browning for her work as the Student Outdoor Recreation and Intramural Coordinator with Outdoor Recreation and Intramurals.
